Roland

"Where Oklahoma Begins"

"Where Oklahoma Begins!" Roland, Oklahoma, is located in the east-central part of the state right on Interstate 40 and only five miles from Downtown Fort Smith, Arkansas and the historic Judge Parkers Court. Its' proximity to the Arkansas border and access to I- 40 make Roland very appealing for both industrial and retail locations.

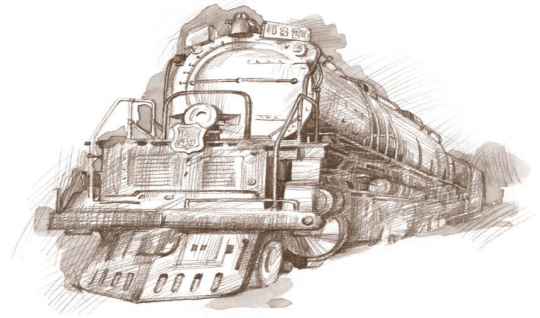

Roland offers all of the advantages of a small town with all of the benefits of a large city. Sitting in the Arkansas River Valley, Roland enjoys mild winters and abundant opportunities for enjoying the outdoors. The town is located in "Green Country" and sits in the foothills of the Ozark Mountains that offer beautiful scenery, hiking, camping, fishing, and scenic rivers and streams. Roland Lake, built in 2000, supplies the communities water needs along with fishing and family picnic sites. Lake Tenkiller is only minutes from Roland and boasts almost 13,000 acres of water and over 130 miles of shoreline of and the scenic Illinois River's 70 miles of floating and 8 miles of trout fishing provide additional recreational opportunities.
